September 2014 was the bicentenary of the birth of the cathedral's architect William Butterfield and a number of special events took place to commemorate the occasion. Cathedral historian Margaret Lye put together an excellent display with information about Butterfield's life and work and also images of some of his well known buildings. A number of other congregations who also worship in Butterfield buildings were contacted and everyone was delighted to be part of an exchange of greetings and pictures of our buildings, some of which came from as far away as Australia. Our musicians put on a splendid afternoon concert showcasing the wonderfully wide variety of their talent. And finally a delicious cake was made and shared amongst the congregation- a great way to end the festivities!
Links to websites of some of the other Butterfield churches

http://www.allSaintsmargaretstreet.org.uk dundela.down.anglican.org